"THE ADVENTURES OF A BOY SCOUT"

The picture traces the practical value of the Scout movement in up-building character. The work of the Scouts in all its aspects is illustrated by a series of descriptive episodes in which the daily routine of the Scouts is shown.

A very interesting story runs the whole way through this feature. The Boy Scouts' adventure coincides with a human interest story which point the moral that every boy is a potential asset to his country, that manliness, courage and chivalry always win out.

President Wilson indorsed this picture by personally appearing in the same. Judge Ben Lindsey highly praises it.

Gettysburg Water Company will Put Down New Line over One Street to be Paved. Other Main is Sufficiently Large for Years to Come.

The directors of the Gettysburg Water Company, at a meeting held in their office on Thursday evening, decided to lay a new main, beginning at the middle of Centre Square and extending on Chambersburg street past the intersection with Washington street.

The material has been ordered and work will be started as soon as it is received which will be within the next three weeks. The cost of the work is estimated at $1100, and the length of the new line 625 feet.

The action was taken now in order that the work of the company would not in any way delay the paving of Chambersburg street early in the spring. The present main is a six inch pipe. The new line will have a twelve inch pipe which will provide sufficient capacity for many years to come and obviate all necessity of digging up the street in order to give the residents of that part of town an adequate supply. The new main will connect with the Baltimore street line at the middle of Centre Square.

The connections with the various residences and business places along Chambersburg street will also be carefully inspected and, if there is any need for repairs there, they too will be made at once and the entire system placed in permanent shape. Arrangements will be made to supply fire plugs with a six inch line if that shall be desired at any time.

The financing of the work will be done, it is said, out of the current revenues of the company.

On Baltimore street—the other part of town to have the street paving—the main is twelve inches in size and of a permanent character so that there will be no necessity of the water company doing any work there and, once the paving is done, there should be no cause for digging it up so far as this company is concerned. Some of the property owners may have to put in new service pipes, but the company is not responsible for that work.

The work will be done with as little inconvenience as possible to people using the water, and their indulgence is asked while the work is in progress.

MET THEM ALL

General Request for Autographs at Evening Church Affair.

A novel method of getting acquainted was employed at the social given by the St. James Christian Endeavor Society Thursday evening. Each person present was given an autograph album with instructions to secure as many signatures as possible during the evening. The general mingling that resulted got the crowd thoroughly mixed and almost every one met everybody there. Games were played, refreshments were served, and a short but enjoyable entertainment program was provided.

NEW PLAN NOW FOR EAST END

Would Give East Berlin Communication with Outside World by Means of Trackless Trolley System Plans Formulated.

A new method to give East Berlin service to nearby towns is proposed in a trackless trolley to Dover, the preliminaries of which have already been arranged. Two routes are planned.

It is understood that the right has been assured the company between Dover and New Cumberland, but that some final arrangements have to be completed with the authorities of Paradise township, which lies on the proposed East Berlin route, where the road is very narrow for a short distance of the way. This, it is thought, will be overcome as the company has offered to help defray a part of the expense that would be required to make it the proper width.

The route to New Cumberland, however, does not take in Wellsville and Dillsburg, as was originally proposed. The councils of the two boroughs refused to pass the ordinances granting the right of way, and this has necessitated the slight change.

The route as proposed, at present, is by way of Mt. Royal, Rossville, Mt. Top, Maytown, Lewisberry and New Cumberland. At Rossville the line will miss Wellsville by one mile, and at Mt. Top, Dillsburg will be passed within about one and one-half miles.

The East Berlin line will go by way of Davidsburg. According to the terms of the franchises the company will be compelled to operate cars within the next 21 months, or the agreement will become invalid. The company, according to its provisions will be compelled to start building within the next year, and operate cars within the following nine months.

The will provides for four public bequests as follows: Post, No. 37, G. A. CROPS WILL BE MONEY MAKERS

Says Government Report. Corn is again King. Enormous Revenue Expected from the Wheat Yield Bulletin just Issued.

American harvests this year will be the most valuable ever produced. With the wheat crop exceeding a billion bushels, the largest ever produced in one season by any nation, and a corn crop which also may prove to be the largest ever grown, the Government's October crop report, announced preliminary estimates which indicate record harvests of oats, barley, rye, sweet potatoes, rice, tobacco, and hay.

Corn still is king of crops, with indication of 3,026,159,000 bushels. While that is 98,000,000 bushels below the record of 1912, the final production, when the harvest is finished and all statistics compiled, may more than make up the difference. The higher prices this year assure the most valuable corn crop ever grown. At prices to farmers prevailing October 1, the corn crop is worth $2,133,000,000.

Wheat prospects increased as the growing season progressed and the Government's early season forecasts moved up month by month so that today's preliminary estimate of production was placed at 1,002,029,000 bushels. Wet weather at harvest time, however, reduced the quality of winter wheat so that much of it will not be available for milling purposes and will have to be used for feed. At prices prevailing October 1 the farm value of the crop is $910,844,000, considerably more than ever was paid for a wheat crop before.

AUSTRO-GERMANS INVADE SERBIA

Three Rivers Are Crossed at Many Points.

BRITISH TROOPS LANDED

Anglo-French Forces Numbering 150,000 to Strike North from Salonika to Meet Teutons.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—Large German and Austrian forces have invaded Serbia. The Teutonic troops have crossed the Sava, Save and Danube rivers at many places, the war office announced.

It is stated that the invading troops have established firm footholds on the other banks of the rivers.

Allies to Aid Serbia

London, Oct. 8.—An official despatch reached London stating that the Anglo-French forces now invading Serbia total 400,000 men.

The French troops landed already at Salonika have left for the Serbian frontier. British troops have arrived. The military authorities still withhold figures as to the total number of men in the allies' expedition, but it is now rumored that 70,000 French troops and 80,000 British, 150,000 in all, will help the Serbians.

Advices from Rome indicate that an Italian expedition to the Balkans is under consideration.

Advices to the Paris Journal say that German employees of Greek railroads attempted to prevent the passage of the allied troops through Greek territory by tearing up the rails, but their plans were frustrated. The minister of transportation made a flying trip to Salonika upon a fast torpedo boat destroyer where he discharged all the Germans, replaced them with Greeks and had the lines quickly repaired.

Serbia, backed by the allies, has rejected Bulgaria's demand for the surrender of Macedonia and hostilities between the two countries are expected to open within twenty-four hours, according to advices received from Athens.

The formation of a coalition cabinet in Greece, under Alexander Zaimis as premier, and the rupture of diplomatic relations with Bulgaria by the quadruple entente and Serbia were other developments in the acute Balkan crisis.

M. Zaimis ministry was announced at Athens. He will serve as foreign minister as well as premier. His colleagues are: Interior, M. Gounaris; war, General Yanakitsas; marine, Admiral P. Countouriotis; finance, Stephen Dragomiris; instruction, M. Theotokis; justice and communications, D. G. Rhalilis.

News is momentarily expected of Bulgaria's active participation in the war on the side of the central powers.

In the absence of direct word from the Russian minister at Sofia, it is assumed by the foreign office at Petrograd that the czar's minister and his associates departed from the Bulgarian capital.

The Bulgarian minister to Italy was handed his passports by the Italian foreign minister, according to a Stefani news agency despatch from Rome. Bulgarians have evacuated all buildings on the coast near Dedegatch, while the forts in that city are being armed with long range guns and mine-layers are placing a double line of mines across the port. Dedegatch is reported to be full of troops offered by Germans from Constantinople.

Field Marshal Liman von Sanders, who has been the German commander of the Turkish forces in Europe, has arrived at Philippopolis, Bulgaria, mid way between Adrianople and Sofia, where he was met by King Ferdinand, according to an Amsterdam despatch.

GAIN AT DARDANELLES

British Troops Advance Slowly on Four-Mile Front.

London, Oct. 8.—During the past month of fighting in the Dardanelles the British have gained on an average something more than 300 yards all along the center of the four-mile Suvla bay front, according to an official statement.

The statement was embodied in a report from Sir Ian Hamilton, as follows:

"During the past month the fighting at Suvla bay has not been on a scale calling for special reports. Every night there have been patrol actions and bomb attacks and we gained an average of little over 300 yards along the whole center of the four miles of Suvla front."

Serbia Drop German Aeroplane

Nish, Serbia, Oct. 8.—Even aeroplanes flew over Kragujevatz and dropped thirty bombs. Sharpshooters of the Prince Regent's guard hit one of the air craft, which fell directly in front of the palace. As it fell the fuel tank exploded and the machine and both of its occupants, who were German officers, were burned.

Rumania Will Mobilize

Geneva, Oct. 8.—Information reached Geneva by way of Munich, from a source which is regarded as reliable, that Rumania will issue a decree for general mobilization within the next twelve hours.

The greatest war game in the history of America's navy is now being played on the Atlantic coast. Vice-Admiral Mayo's warships must find a way to defeat the Atlantic fleet of Admiral Fletcher, which is defending the coast from Maine to Florida. Battleships, destroyers, torpedo boats, submarines and mines are being used in the great maneuvers, which occupy ten days.

DEFENCES OF DVINSK BROKEN BY GERMANS

Outer Positions of Dvina River Stronghold Pierced.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—German troops, under Field Marshal von Hindenburg, have penetrated Russian positions at Dvinsk on a three-mile front.

A Russian warship has been shelled by land batteries of the German forces in the Gulf of Riga. This is the first intimation that German troops have reached that territory.

Claim Germans Are Retreating

Petrograd, Oct. 8.—Russian successes in the region between Riga and the territory to the east of Vilna continue. The Germans have lost their foothold in the maze of lakes south of Dvinsk, and Petrograd for the first time in weeks, reports that the invaders are being pursued in that sector.

The Russian forces have recaptured several towns in their victorious counter-offensive between the Naroch and Vichnevolok lakes. Further to the south and in the Kolki theatre, the war office announces the czar's arms are successfully engaging the enemy.

BISHOP CODMAN DIES

Head of Episcopal Diocese Succumbs to Operation.

Boston, Oct. 8.—The Right Rev. Robert Codman, of Maine, died at a hospital. He had been unconscious since undergoing an operation last Monday.

On September 16 Bishop Codman married Miss Margaretta Biddle Porter, of Philadelphia.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS

Each Side Claims Other Lost Heavily in Fighting.

CROWN PRINCE IN PERIL

Loss of Taire Threatens Invaders' Supply Line and Imperils Army in Argonne.

London, Oct. 8.—Charging after their artillery had shattered the German trenches, the French infantry captured by assault the village of Tahure, in Champagne, and pushing beyond reached the summit of Tahure hill, about 200 feet high, a supporting point in the foe's second line.

Tremendous losses were sustained by the Germans in efforts to retake the positions, according to an official statement issued by the French war office. Furious counter assaults were launched, but all were repulsed, the Germans leaving many dead and wounded upon the field. The French took a thousand prisoners in Wednesday's attack.

The Germans, while bombarding violently all the French front to the north of La Scarpe, at the same time delivered four counter-attacks against the positions recently conquered by the French near Souchez, in northern France. They were repulsed at all points, says the French official report. There were intense artillery exchanges at other points on the front, such as usually precede infantry attacks.

Renewed fighting of great severity in the Champagne was reported in the announcement from German army headquarters. Six massed infantry attacks by the French northwest of Souain broke down, the war office states, with very heavy losses to the attackers. French gains at Tahure are admitted in the statement.

The Germans took two officers and 180 men prisoners at Souain, and at Sainte Marie they captured twelve French officers, 579 men and twenty machine guns. In the vicinity of Beauséjour Farm, also in Champagne, the Germans captured three officers, 300 men and three machine guns, according to their war office statement.

With this new gain in Champagne, the French are within a mile and a half of the Chalange-Bazancourt railway, the supply road for the German armies from Rheims to the Argonne. Tahure lies almost directly south of the southernmost point of the railway. With the second line pierced, the resistance the Germans can offer the enemy is greatly weakened.

With the southern line of the railway under the domination of French guns, the Germans must rely almost wholly upon wagon trains and motor transports to supply their army in Champagne.

According to military experts the French victory at Tahure surpasses in strategic value the capture of Hill No. 191, north of Massiges, when the allies' new offensive was opened. They assert that the army of Crown Prince Frederick William, which for more than a year has held a salient, or wedge, position west of Verdun, has been put in danger because it is now open to attack from two sides.

VOTE FOR U.S. PROTECTORATE

Haytian Chamber Ratifies Treaty by Overwhelming Majority.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Ratification by the Haytian chamber of deputies, by a vote of 75 to 6 of the treaty with the United States, establishing an American protectorate over the republic for forty years, was cabled by Admiral Caperton.

Until the Haitian and United States senates also ratify the treaty it will not go into formal effect, although its provisions are now being enforced by the American military occupation forces.

Disarmament of rebels is proceeding rapidly, Caperton reported.

War Costs Canada Over Million Daily

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 8.—W. T. White, the Canadian finance minister, in an address to the board of trade here foreshadowed the launching of a Canadian war loan. He said that for the six months succeeding the war Canada's loans had aggregated $200,000,000, or over a million a day. In the previous five years the dominion had been borrowing two or three hundred million a year.

British Imports Gained $126,430,000

London, Oct. 8.—The board of trade figures for September show a large increase in imports, amounting to $126,430,000. Of this amount £10,000,000 was in food, £5,000,000 in raw materials and the remainder in manufactured articles. He gave out only one of the names that of Richard Stockton, commissioner of charities and correction of New Jersey.

The telegrams were received last night. Secretary Tumulty answered them at once. Mr. Stockton and others whose names had been used, then wired, declaring they had sent no protest.

ENGINE PARTS

Many Have Narrow Escapes at York Springs Preserving Plant.

When the rapidly revolving fly-wheel left the forty horse-power engine in the plant of the Adams County Preserving Company at York Springs Thursday afternoon, the lives of the fifteen employees were in imminent danger but all escaped without injury. The trouble was caused by the belt breaking, after which the wheel acquired terrific speed and finally came off, together with other parts of the engine. Pieces of metal were thrown against the ceiling and walls and the fact that all the people in the building escaped without injury is remarkable. The damaged engine will be repaired as quickly as possible so that there may be little delay in the work at the factory.

WORLD'S SERIES IS ALWAYS GREATEST SPORTING EVENT IN UNITED STATES

Eyes of Nation Centered on Philadelphia and Boston.

Two New Contenders Out For Championship of Baseball World.

THERE is no event in all the world of sport that commands the interest of the entire American public as the world's championship baseball series. And this year the same two cities stage the event as last, but neither of last year's winners again won the right to participate this year. The Boston American league team, better known as the Red Sox, captured the flag in the American league, and the Philadelphia National league club, for the first time in its thirty-six years history, won in the National. Last year the Boston Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans won.

Players Eligible.

Following is a list of the men eligible to take part in the series and who will divide the players' share of the gate receipts, 90 per cent to the winners and 10 per cent to the losers:

RED SOX.

Pitchers—Wood, Leonard, Collins, Shore, Ruth, Mays, Foster and Greig.
Catchers—Carrigan, Cady, Thomas.
Infielders—Holtzcl, Guier, Barry, Scott, Janvin, Wagner and Gardner.
Outfielders—Speaker, Hooper, Lewis, Hendricks.

PHILLIES.

Catchers—Kilmer, Burns and Adams.
Pitchers—Alexander, Demaree, Mayer, McQuillan, Chalmers, Tincup, Rixey and Baumgartner.
Infielders—Luders, Niehoff, Bancroft, Byrne, Stock, Duguey and Weimer.
Outfielders—Cravath, Becker, Pasbert and Whitted.

Some ball players, like some people in other walks of life, achieve fame and fortune while others apparently have the much desired favors thrust upon them. There are at least four heroes, for what reason no one knows unless for the benefit of sport writers across the drab winter months. But a world's series without a hero would be like a novel without a girl with blue eyes and blond hair. So we have a hero in every world's series.

Pitchers Have First Call.

Judging from past series, pitchers have the best call on being the heroes of these games, probably because they really play the most important part and have more chances than any others in the contests to acquire themselves with honors. Pitchers have been the heroes in most world's series in the past. Bill Dineen was the hero of the first world's series between clubs of the National and American leagues. It was in the series between the Red Sox and the Pirates in 1903. When

MANAGER BILL CARRIGAN OF THE RED SOX the Hub fans went to Pittsburgh, taking with them their celebrated song "Tessie," there didn't seem to be much more than the song to cheer them on their way, for the Pirates had taken three in a row. But Dineen, who was a pitcher then, but who has since become a respectable umpire, took the measure of the Pirates, and the Boston club managed to win another without his assistance, and the championship went to the Sox, while most of the honors went to Dineen.

What Matty Did.

Christy Mathewson was easily the hero of the series between the Giants and Athletics in 1905. He shut the Athletics out in three games and certainly made it look as though John Mc-

MANAGER PAT MORAN OF THE PHILLIES. Gray was right when he said that Connie Mack had a white elephant in the Philadelphia club. The following year in the games between the White Sox and the Cubs Pitcher Ed Walsh was the main factor in the victory of the Sox.

He beat the Cubs in two of the four games his club won. George Rube and Jiggs Donohue were also big factors in that series, but Walsh got the lion's share of the honors.

When the Cubs met the Detroit Tigers in 1908 Three Fingers Brown and Orvie Overall, Chance's star pitchers, were the most prominent figures in the defeat of the Junglers, and in 1909 Babe Adams of the Pittsburgh club rose from an unknown to the most talked of man in the country in the few games that he pitched. Adams had been with the Pirates but a short

STATISTICS OF 1914.

The following statistics for the 1914 series are interesting at this time:
Total attendance for the four games, 117,609.
Total receipts, $25,735, divided as follows:
Private, $12,730.94.
Park club, $9,632.53.
National commission, $22,573.
The Boston Nationals, winners, with twenty-seven players eligible, took 20 per cent of the players' money, or $2,528.53 each. The Philadelphia Americans, with twenty-five players eligible, shared their 40 per cent, each man getting $1,600.41.

PREVIOUS WINNERS.

This year's championship baseball series is the twelfth that has been played between the pennant winners of the two major leagues. The American league has won six and the National league has won five of these contests. Following is the record:

1901, the Boston Americans defeated the Pittsburgh Nationals.
1905, the New York Nationals defeated the Philadelphia Americans.
1904, the Chicago Americans defeated the Chicago Nationals.
1907, the Chicago Nationals defeated the Detroit Americans.
1908, the Chicago Nationals defeated the Detroit Americans.
1909, the Pittsburgh Nationals defeated the Detroit Americans.
1910, the Philadelphia Americans defeated the Chicago Nationals.
1911, the Philadelphia Americans defeated the New York Nationals.
1912, the Boston Americans defeated the New York Nationals.
1913, the Philadelphia Americans defeated the New York Nationals.
1914, the Boston Nationals defeated the Philadelphia Americans.

time and had done practically nothing to recommend him. But Clarke was put to using him against the Tigers, and the big fellow immediately won the series for his people.

But there were several years when pitchers did not become the heroes. For instance, in 1907 Frank Chance was the central figure when the Cubs met the Tigers for the first time. He was playing first base for his club then and during that series got seventeen hits in twenty-one times at bat for a batting average of something like .800. In 1910, when the Cubs and Athletics fought it out for the championship, Eddie Collins, the clever second baseman of Mack's club, was the noise of the time. He did some brilliant fielding that stood out above the work of other players in the game and was also a power at the bat.

Heroes From Maryland.

Memories of what happened in 1911 are still fresh. It was then that Frank Baker put himself and the state of Maryland squarely on the map with the two home runs that demolished the PITCHER ALEXANDER OF THE PHILLIES. hopes of the Giants. These home runs were probably the most opportune hits that Baker or any one else ever made. Baker had been hitting hard all season and had put many a ball over the right field fence in Shibe park, but for some reason he was not considered a serious menace before the series opened, probably because it was not thought that he would perform in his accustomed manner in the important series.

In the series with the Red Sox in 1911 Charley Herzog, the Giants' third base guard, increased the prestige of Maryland by giving it another world series hero. There was probably more great individual playing in that series than in any other on record. Hooper and Devore both made wonderful catches at important stages of the series, both of which saved their respective clubs for the time being. But Herzog batted through that series at a .400 clip, making twelve hits in thirty times at bat, a better average than any other player made who played in all of the games. But aside from this, Herzog put ginger into the Giants' defense. He was playing a remarkable game at third base. Nothing got away from him in the series, and he closed with a fielding average of 1.000. When the pitcher, whoever he happened to be, got into a bad hole Herzog would yell across to him: "Make him hit them down this way! I'll get him all right!" And he did get every one of them who hit in his direction.

In 1913 Frank Baker of the Athletics was again the hero, winning the laurels by heavy hitting.

In 1914 Rudolph and James, who pitched Boston to victory, were the big men.

Probably equalling in interest any other event to be staged in the baseball classic will be the warfare of Moran and Carrigan—Carrigan the aggressive against Moran the fearless. Just who will succeed is doubtful, but the fur should fly before the decision is reached.

The Complexion.

The food we eat has much to do with the condition of the complexion. Green salads are an important aid to the digestion and will accomplish much toward bleaching and whitening a sallow complexion. They possess certain chemical qualities and supply the body with needed salts. Tomatoes, endive, lettuce and young onions are splendid for the skin. Spinach contains salts of potassium, iron and other properties that act upon the liver. Tea and coffee must be taken in moderation.

Use for Onions.

Onions are good for cleaning steel articles that have rusted. Rub the rust spots with a piece of onion and leave for 24 hours. Wash and polish with turpentine dust, moistened with turpentine. Wash again in suds and scald with clear water. Knives that have rust spots of long standing should be plunged into an onion and allowed to stand for some time. Finish the cleaning process as above.

Twins.

One strange prejudice is that which the Kaffirs entertain against twins, that are held to be most unlucky, although, oddly enough, a twin is always expected to be clever. So pronounced is this dislike that in the old days a woman who had twins for the second time was put to death.

Gracious Manners.

The charm of gracious manner and consideration for other human beings is a quality that develops rapidly if given half a chance. The woman who is always kind creates an atmosphere of loveliness that is like a halo about her head. If you are naturally shy and reticent it is all the more necessary that you should endeavor to shine a bit. It is not lack of pleasant thoughts that worries the self-conscious, but the fear of giving expression to them. You must try to make yourself companionable to others.

What Boys Are Like.

In the American Magazine Frances L. Garside, writing under the title "Just Boys," contributed the following paragraph: "If a boy is quiet, everyone wonders what he is up to now, and if he is noisy everyone knows and disapproves. When a boy enters a room in which there are seated the members of the family and his dog, he always speaks to the dog first."

Passed Him a Gentle Hint.

"What is the hardest part of your work as a lecturer?" asked the man designated as toastmaster. "As a rule," replied Mr. Speckins, "the hardest part of my work is waking the audience up after the man who introduced me has introduced me."

MEN NEEDED FOR AMERICAN NAVY

Congress to Be Asked For 50,000 More Sailors.

SEEK 1,000 NEW OFFICERS

Naval Experts Say Force is Now Only Half Large Enough—Assistant Secretary Roosevelt Busy on Plans to Bring United States Navy Up to Standard of Any in the World.

Congress will be asked to increase the enlisted personnel of the navy 50 per cent and to provide for 1,000 more officers, according to the present plans of the navy department. Officers say such an increase is a necessity if even the present ships are to be kept ready for action.

The enlistment is now up to the maximum permitted by law—slightly over 52,000—and it is said that there will be no difficulty in getting the extra men, even at the present rate of pay. If congress passes the necessary legislation, the navy is accumulating ships much faster than men, and it is declared at the navy department that conditions will become critical when the big vessels under construction are in commission.

"There are not enough men in the navy at this time to place all the ships on parade, let alone send them into battle," said a naval officer. "Every time we commission a new ship we have to relegate one or two older ones to virtual retirement. Almost all our officers are performing the duties of the rank above them. We ought to have 1,000 new officers at once and then promote a corresponding number of the old ones to ranks commensurate with the duties they are performing."

It is estimated that in the event of war the navy would have to retire a large number of older ships in order to get enough men and officers to man the battle fleet. The department looks on this situation as grave, and some of the older officers say congress will be only making a beginning if it raises the authorized number of enlisted men to 75,000 and adds 1,000 officers.

Would Not Provide Reserves.

This increase, it is said, would just put the present ships on a war footing. It would not provide reserves to take care of normal casualties nor men to handle the large fleet of auxiliary cruisers, colliers, transports and tenders that would be necessary in war.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt recently estimated that 18,000 more men and 1,000 officers would be required to bring the present ships of the navy up to a state of actual war preparation. The estimate of Rear Admiral Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, is understood to have been considerably higher.

Mr. Roosevelt is working out a plan for a naval reserve of 50,000 men, recruited from the former enlisted men of the navy, who number about 10,000, and from private citizens who have had experience in the various branches of the service.

He believes that, while these men cannot be trained to the standard of efficiency in the regular service in this way, it will nevertheless be possible to mobilize a great many volunteers for auxiliary service. Radio operators, helmsmen, mechanics and engineers can be taken from private life and made almost immediately useful to the navy in time of war.

If congress grants the increase in personnel which Secretary Daniels will recommend and which it is presumed the president will approve it will not be expected to stop there. Naval experts are greatly interested in forming an adequate reserve of both ships and men. Such a plan would necessarily be linked with the movement to foster a merchant marine and would provide for commissioning officers of the merchant fleet and placing the crews and vessels on the reserve list, as is done in Europe.

AMERICAN KILLED IN ACTION.

Star of Annapolis Football Team Went to War to See Biggest Show.

"It's the biggest show in the world," said William Montague Nicholls as he sailed from New York city for England to join one of the volunteer regiments. A recent cable dispatch from the war office to the young man's father, Judge George W. Nicholls, at Sportantburg, S. C., brought the news that he had been killed in action between Sept. 26 and 27.

Montague Nicholls was quarterback on the Annapolis football team in 1911, 1912 and 1913 and was one of the best known athletes at the Naval academy. He resigned six weeks before graduation because he didn't want to serve in the navy.

On Monday morning Nicholls was wounded in the fighting around Neuve Chapelle and spent several months in a British hospital. Recovering, he again went to the front, and in the drive which forced the Germans back to Ypres he received his fatal wound. Nicholls was a brother of Congressman Elbert Samuel J. Nicholls of the Fourth South Carolina district.

"The man who can drive with one hand is the man for me," answered Edna gayly. "You're easily satisfied," replied her friend Ruth. "For my part, I prefer the man who asks me to drive."

PRINCE ALBERT

is such good tobacco you feel like you could just eat the smoke!

Yes, sir, P. A. puts a razor edge on your smoke-appetite-division that's nobby enough to be photographed!

The toppy red bag, 5c

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy-us to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke you or any other man ever did roll and put the fire to! Men, we tell you to wise up.

P. A. is crimp cut and stays put—which means rolling P. A. is as easy as falling off a log. And it's good to remember P. A. is put up in the toppy red bag especially for you "rollers." Sells for the price of a jitney ride, 5c.

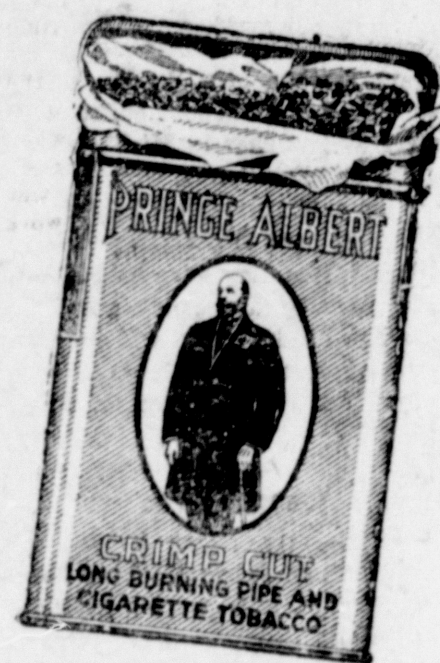

Now, will the "pipers" kindly open both ears?

Here's tobacco that has made it possible for three men to smoke pipes where one smoked before!

Any way you hook it up, Prince Albert is tobacco insurance! Yes, sir, it guarantees your future as well as your present smokings! And just makes your tongue so jimmy pipe joy-us that your smoke appetite grows whopping big. You men who "dassn't," we say you go to P. A., natural-like! Because there isn't a bite in a barrel of this national joy smoke.

Unlimber your old jimmy pipe! Dig it out of the dark corner, jam it brimful of P. A. And make fire with a match! Me-o-my!

You get acquainted with Prince Albert in the toppy red bag, 5c; or tidy red tin, 10c, but for the double-back-action-joy, you buy a crystal-glass pound humidor. And then you're set! You see, it has the sponge-moistener top and keeps P. A. at the highest top-notch point of perfection. Prince Albert is also sold in pound and half-pound tin humidors.

A Rational Point of View

Mr. Storekeeper, when you figure out the profits of your salesmen, do you take the force as a whole, or by individuals?

Don't you want to know whether Bill Jones is as good a salesman as Tom Brown?

Don't you want to eliminate the salesman who does not hold up sales.

Why not consider your advertising with the same point of view?

The minute you do you will be convinced what newspaper is the logical medium.

And once you realize this you will get down to a business basis and know what pays and what does not.

PLAN GAYETIES FOR PRESIDENT

Mr. Wilson and Flancee at House Party in New York.

AT BALL GAME TOMORROW

The Wedding Ceremony Will be Private and Take Place at Home of the Bride.

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt, whose engagement was announced at the White House and who will probably be married the first week in December, will make their first appearance together in public since the announcement of their betrothal this afternoon in New York, where they go to a house party given by the president's close friend and unofficial adviser, Colonel E. M. House.

This evening they will attend a theatre party in New York, and tomorrow, on the return toward Washington, will see the second game in the World's baseball championship series, at Philadelphia. The party will include Colonel and Mrs. House, Mrs. Galt's mother, Mrs. Bolling, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, the president's cousin; Secretary Tamm and the president's personal physician and naval aide, Dr. Grayson.

Today's party given by Colonel House will be only the first of many events which are being planned for the presidential party before the time of the wedding. Invitations and congratulations began pouring into the White House offices in such volume that, as on previous occasions when the White House had a wedding on hand, a special staff of clerks was prepared for assignment to social work only for the next two months.

The ceremony will be private, only a few close friends being invited, and will take place at the home of the bride on New Hampshire avenue near Dupont Circle.

Plans for the honeymoon have not been completed, but it was indicated today that the trip might include a visit to the San Diego exposition.

For the third time in American history, a president of the United States will take a bride. In choosing to have the ceremony performed not in the White House, but at the home of the bride, Mr. Wilson follows a precedent set by President Tyler, who was married in New York in the Church of the Ascension. President Cleveland, the only other chief executive to be married while in office was married in the White House.

President Wilson is a Presbyterian and Mrs. Galt an Episcopalian and no decision has been reached yet as to which service will be used at the wedding. Mrs. Galt is a member of St. Thomas' Episcopal church here.

While the president is in New York he will stay with Colonel House, but Mrs. Galt, her mother and other members of the party will stay at a hotel. Mrs. Galt is of that branch of the English royalist Bolling family which traces direct descent from the Indian princess, Pocahontas, who was married to John Rolfe. In the year of her debut she was a great belle in the younger set.

EXPLOSION KILLS FOUR

Drying House of Powder Plant Near Emporium, Pa., Blown to Atoms. Emporium, Pa., Oct. 8.—Four men instantly killed, another probably fatally hurt and six seriously injured were the casualties resulting from the explosion at the plant of the Aetna Explosive company.

A large quantity of smokeless powder, prepared for shipment to the allies, exploded from some yet undetermined cause, blew the two-story drying house to atoms and shook the country for miles around.

The dead men, who came from Wilmington, Del., are:

J. Jensen, forty-eight years old; H. Jensen, twenty-four, son of J. Jensen; J. Marshall, twenty-six, and a man named Knapp.

A man named Ellison, of Port Alleghe, was so seriously injured that he is not expected to survive.

Teuton Loss 650,000 in September. Rome, Oct. 8.—The German losses in September are placed at 300,000 in the eastern theatre of war and 100,000 in France; and the Austrian losses at 250,000, of whom 80,000 are prisoners, according to estimates of Italian military experts. These do not include victims of disease, nor 50,000 Teutons drowned in the Polish marshes, the experts state.

Says Weeks Leads for 1916. Washington, Oct. 8.—"Weeks and Fairbanks" will be the Republican ticket in 1916, according to Senator Ashurst of Arizona, a Democrat who recently came to Washington from a tour of the West. The senator from Arizona says Senator Weeks has made more headway in his opinion than any of the other candidates.

British Officer Casualties 17,074. London, Oct. 8.—Total casualties of officers of the British army from the beginning of the war up to September 27 are shown by figures just given out to have reached a total of 17,074, of which 5,176 were officers who were killed or had died, while 10,469 were wounded and 1429 listed as missing.

COMBINES IN STEEL WARNED BY GREGORY

Independent Companies Will be Scrutinized Closely.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Attorney General Gregory issued a formal statement today that any attempt to bring about a combination of independent steel companies "would be subjected to the closest scrutiny by the department of justice." The statement follows:

"Asked whether the department of justice would take any action with respect to the definite and circumstantial reports of a proposed combination of independent steel companies, the attorney general said:

"It cannot be questioned that if it was lawful to unite through the United States Steel corporation one-half of the competitive units in the steel trade, the other half also would have the right to combine. And, of course, what could be done in the steel trade could be done in every other branch of trade, thus virtually putting an end to competition.

"But the decision of the circuit judges of the third circuit in the steel case is not yet the established law. It is because of just such consequences that the government is appealing from that decision. Besides, in the Harvester case, a court of equal rank took a very different view of the law.

"The question is now pending before the supreme court. In the meantime attempt to combine able and efficient competitors, affecting trade over a wide area, will be subjected to the closest scrutiny by the department of justice."

CONFESSES MURDER

Black Hand Leader Admits Killing Pottsville Merchant.

Pottsville, Pa., Oct. 8.—Established as the leader of the Brooklyn "Black Hand" gang, which has terrorized persons in the local Italian quarter for months, charged with murdering Merchant J. H. James last week in a quarrel over three cents, Dominic Fredi, alias Digli, was arraigned before Alderman Frank Freiler and pleaded guilty. The plea will probably send him to the electric chair.

State police have eight threatening letters sent to other merchants by the gang of which Dominic was the leader. Vito and Angelo Fagiano, who operate a taxi-cab service in New York, who came here with an auto to aid the murderer to escape, also were sent to jail.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

INTERESTING IRRELEVANCIES.

BREAKFAST COFFEE—Preferably breakfast coffee is served with hot milk. Experts say that coffee with cream is likely to produce sour stomach. They also declare that if it be sweetened neither milk nor cream should be used—for the stomach's sake.

Coffee may be either boiled or dripped, but must not really boil or percolate, three rounding tablespoons to each pint of water.

The milk has been put into a double boiler and thence into a covered hot pitcher as soon as the water around it has boiled. In serving pour the cup half full of hot milk and then pour in the coffee.

Egg and Olive Mayonnaise.—Cut three to four hard boiled eggs into halves across, take out the yolks and rub them through a sieve. Cut off a tiny piece of the tops of the whites to make them stand evenly. Chop rather finely two slices of tongue and mix with half the yolks of eggs. Stamp out six nice rounds of buttered toast about the size of the cut side of the eggs, sprinkle over thickly with tongue and yolks purée. Cut into fine shreds two more slices of egg, tongue, two French gherkins, six olives and two fillets of anchovies. Season this with mayonnaise and a few drops of lemon juice, add a little chopped parsley, also a pinch of white or red pepper. Fill up neatly with this the cups of white of egg and coat the surface with a fairly stiff mayonnaise. Place each egg on a round of buttered toast, garnish to taste and serve.

To Keep Apples.—Take fine, dry sawdust, preferably that made by a circular saw from well-seasoned hardwood, and place a thick layer on bottom of a barrel. Then place a layer of apples, not close together and not close to staves of barrel. Put sawdust liberally over and around and proceed until one and one-half barrels or less are so packed in each barrel. They are to be kept in a cool place.

OLD AND NEW WAY TO TREAT CATARRH

Breathing a Germ Killing Air Endorsed by Actual Results.

The discovery of Hyomei has wrought a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh.

Prior to three years ago the medicines ordinarily employed in the cure of this disease were drugs, sprays, lotions, etc. In some instances they benefited, but the improvement was not lasting.

With Hyomei you take into the air passages of your throat and head a balsamic air that goes into the minutest cells, and should effectually kill all germs and microbes of catarrh. Its purpose is to enter the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood, and restore health to the whole system. Many astonishing testimonials have been received from those who have been helped by Hyomei.

A complete outfit is inexpensive and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment.

Perhaps the strongest evidence that can be given to doubters, is the fact that The People's Drug Store have so much faith in Hyomei that they sell every package under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve.

THE MYTHICAL MANUSCRIPT

Tale of Love, Deception and Literature.

I began my literary career as an author and soon after became an editor. When a friend once asked me the difference between the two I replied, "The author is the person who sends things in, and the editor is the person who sends them back." After finding that I could not make a living by scribbling I secured a position at a small salary to "pass" on what other people wrote. I supposed that my appointment came on account of my literary taste, but my employer told me that I was wanted to get rid of persons whose manuscripts the concern didn't want without offending them. He had noticed that I had a pleasant, plausible way with me and had engaged me on that account. I was in this view of the case very successful.

One morning a young girl called with a story, and I went into the anteroom to see her. We never admitted callers into the sanctum, not that we were very busy, but because it was more impressive to make them think we were. We wished them to fancy dozens of intellectual looking readers poring over manuscripts hunting for something worthy of our magazine. I advanced with my usual smile to meet a girl whose smile was anything but usual. It was unusually sweet. She handed me the manuscript of a story, apologized for its not being typewritten on the ground that inspiration did not come mingled with mechanical means, and she never worked with a typewriter. In my own heart—my author heart, not my editorial heart—I felt the truth of her words. I was interested in her pretty face and thought it possible I might find a gem in her story. She secured my promise that I would read it myself, and I told her I would take it home for the purpose.

A month passed. I had not only abandoned authorship, but had directed my mother to clear my closet of my old "unavailable" manuscripts and burn them. One morning the girl with the pleasant smile called, and before going out to see her it suddenly occurred to me that I had taken her story home, and it was now doubtless a part of the oblivion of my own works. I gathered my wits and, putting on my smile—I made a special effort—rushed up to her with outstretched hands.

"I have been delighted with your story," I said, "but have missed the last page, which you must have omitted to put in. Besides, some parts are almost illegible. Have you another copy?"

I asked the question with a quaking heart and was paralyzed when she replied that she had given me the only copy in existence. Then she began to talk to me about the plot and the characters. Did I like Douglas Chichester the hero? Was the climax properly handled? How about the love passages? She kept up a fire of questions, and I, having admitted that I had read her story, must needs give opinions on a work that I had never seen. While I was doing so I was trying to form some plan by which to extricate myself from the perilous position. My very bread and butter was in her keeping. I determined that I must win her kindliest feelings, and when confident that she thought too much of me to inform my employer of the injury I had done her I would confess all. In order to see her more familiarly than was possible at the office, I asked her to come to my house in a few days and I would tell her of some changes that I thought would add to the beauty of her other wise beautiful story.

She kept the appointment, and I, having instructed my mother after a short stay with us for propriety's sake to leave us alone, had a whole evening with the girl to myself. I made numerous blunders in discussing situations and characters I knew nothing about, but congratulated myself that my masterly retorts from the entangling positions I fell into were successful, and when she went away I told her there were chapters I must read over before making final recommendations. She thanked me again and again for my "kindness" and departed to come again that day week.

I had now got enough knowledge of her plan and familiarity with her characters to talk about them with tolerable accuracy. I observed a downcast look about her when her eyes met mine that encouraged me. I was hopeful that when the denouement to my own little story came I would suffer the wrong I had done her without at least reporting the matter at the office.

Well, after basking in the sunshine of each other's smiles for some months I, all the while keeping up my wily deception, made a discovery—that she was a dear, amiable creature, not very smart, but just the girl I would like to make a pet of for life. I determined to handle the love part—the "heart interest"—the professional term—of my story first, and if I was accepted the "complication" would work itself out in a delightful climax.

My proposal was accepted, but my confession seemed to pierce the poor girl to the heart. She assured me that she could forgive such an injury only to an accepted lover.

The day of our wedding, when we were speeding along on a train, she started me with a confession. She had seen me before I had ever seen her and had determined to win me. The paste-board box which was supposed to contain a story had been filled with waste paper. All it was intended for was an excuse to make my acquaintance.

She Takes as Many Chances. Just the same, a man who can tell a good watermelon by looking at it and thumping it often selects a bad wife by her looks alone.—Anaconda Standard
